

Short Biography:

Known affectionately as “your family’s favorite author,” Tanisia “Tee” Moore writes uplifting work for all ages. For young adult readers, her debut book with co-author Lyn Miller-Lachmann in the Women of Power series profiling women filmmakers was announced in November 2020. For adults, she is the author of After the Storm, an inspiring contemporary romance novel of redemption and restoration. Tee has been published in the Alabama News, Medium, and Readers Digest, as well as a TEDx talk on motherhood and entrepreneurship.

She is a proud alumna of Clark Atlanta University—where she majored in Mass Media Arts with a concentration in radio— and Florida A&M University College of Law. When Tee isn’t writing, she’s saving the world as a loving, compassionate (and sometimes crazy) wife and mother. Originally from Southern California, she now lives in the southern belle state of Alabama.

Long Biography:

Tanisia “Tee” Moore is a revered voice of African American storytelling. She is the author of After the Storm, an inspiring tale of redemption, restoration, and revelation. For Tee, writing is her avenue for giving hope, sharing life’s lessons, and sparking imaginations. Known affectionately as “your family’s favorite author”, Tee writes uplifting work for all ages which includes but is not limited to, children’s picture books, fun middle grade novels, young adult novels and adult romance novels. She has work published in the Alabama News, Medium, and Readers Digest and a TEDx talk on motherhood and entrepreneurship. Her work speaks from the soul, tapping into unknown worlds to give her community a new perspective – a passion that permeates outside of her love for writing.

Tee is a proud alumna of Clark Atlanta University—where she majored in Mass Media Arts with a concentration in radio— and Florida A&M University College of Law. When Tee isn’t putting pen to paper, she co-owns and operates Moore Legal Solutions, LLC (d/b/a Moore and Young Legal Solutions)— a virtual boutique law firm. With her unique understanding of the eclectic and imaginative nature of creatives, she assists clients in protecting their art (written, painted, recorded, etc.).

Originally from Southern California, Tee now lives in the southern belle state of Alabama where she is a loving, compassionate (and sometimes crazy) wife and mother.
